

The Association for Women in Mathematics
University of Kansas Student Chapter

Everyone is Invited!

Tuesday, September 22,
2015
4:00 PM
306 Snow Hall

“Mentoring: The role of women as role models.” Elizabeth
Asiedu, University of Kansas

Dr. Elizabeth Asiedu, Department of Economics

Biography:

Elizabeth Asiedu is a Professor of Economics at the University of Kansas. She was Associate Chair and the Director of Graduate Studies of the Economics Department from 2007-2009. She is also the President and founder of the Association for the Advancement of African Women Economists (AAWE) and the former President of the African Finance Economic Association (AFEA). Professor Asiedu received her B.S. (Hons) from the University of Ghana, M.S. in Mathematics from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign (UIUC), and PhD in Economics also from UIUC.

Professor Asiedu teaches graduate and undergraduate classes in Development and International Economics. She has received several teaching/mentoring awards at the University of Kansas, including The Outstanding Woman Educator Award, Kemper Teaching Award, Byron Shutz Award for Excellence in Teaching, and the Woman of Distinction Award.

Professor Asiedu's research focuses on Foreign Direct Investment, Foreign Aid and HIV/AIDS. Her research has received both national and international prominence. In 2007, she was one of ten recipients of Emerging Scholar Award - a nation-wide award that honors minority faculty in the US. Her work has been published in leading scholarly journals, including The American Economic Review Papers and Proceedings, Journal of International Economics, and Review of Economics and Statistics. Her work is also cited in several international publications, including The Report of the Commission for Africa (The Tony Blair Report) presented at the G8 Summit in 2005; The 2006 Economic Report on Africa produced by the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa, and The 2008 UNCTAD World Investment Report. She has consulted for many international organizations, including The United Nations University/World Institute of Development Economics Research (UNU-WIDER), International Labor Organization (ILO), The African Development Bank and The Global Development Network.

